COURSE OVERVIEW

The Mayo Clinic International Hospital Internal Medicine Conference focuses on advancements in hospital medicine. Renowned Mayo Clinic experts will deliver presentations on cutting-edge research, emerging trends, and updates in clinical practice related to hospital medicine that can be readily integrated into daily clinical practice. The conference aims to familiarize clinicians with the clinical reach and expertise of hospitalists in managing complex patients within the hospital setting.

A Point of Care Ultrasound (POCUS) workshop is available as a supplement to the main lectures for those interested in enhancing their skills for incorporating bedside ultrasound into their everyday practice.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon conclusion of this program, participants should be able to:

- Describe the infrastructure of Hospital Medicine at Mayo Clinic
- Review the latest developments and innovations in hospital medicine
- Apply cutting-edge medical advancements into clinical practice
- Acquire practical experience in point-of-care ultrasound and discuss its clinical benefits

TARGET AUDIENCE

This course is designed for inpatient care providers including physicians, residents, fellows, medical students, healthcare executives and advanced practice providers (physician assistants, nurse practitioners).
